

Online Job-Finding Resources for Fisheries and Aquatic Sciences - 2008

Student Subunit - Florida Chapter of the American Fisheries Society

Important Job Posting Web Sites:

American Fisheries Society Jobs Board <http://www.fisheries.org/jobs/>
This should be your first stop when looking for work.

Federal Jobs Database <http://usajobs.opm.gov/>

This board lists all of the federal job openings (USGS, Fish and Wildlife Service, National Park Service). Click on the search tab. First try a basic search and click on the job category of 'biological sciences'. You can also do a search for specific job types by clicking on the 'series search' tab. Here are some useful series codes to search by: 0482 biologist, fishery; 0400 biological sciences; 0404 biological science technician; 0401 biological and natural resources; 0486 biologist, wildlife; 0485 wildlife refuge manager. This is not an exhaustive list of natural resources job series codes so make sure you scroll through the rest of the codes to see if any others look interesting.

Texas A&M Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Science <http://wfsc.tamu.edu/jobboard/index.htm>. This is one of the best sites for fisheries and wildlife jobs. The best feature is the extensive list of links to other employment sites. These employment links can be found on the left side of the main page under the 'Additional Resources' header.
